Dry goods and merchandise imports at the port of New York were worth $9,120,718 for the week.

The weekly statement of the associated New York banks, issued Saturday, shows the following changes:

Surplus reserves, increase...... $1,310,950 Legal tenders, increase ...... 628,100 Deposits, increase ...... 11,344,200

Circulation, increase ..... 498,400 The banks now hold $20,123,275 in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent. rule The Financier says: "The banks of New York city gained over $4,000,000 in cash, last week, as a result of their operations with the interior and the treasury. This was largely in excess of the known receipts of currency, but even more surprising was the expansion of $7,347,600 in loans, with a coincident rise of $11,344,200 in deposits. As a usual thing, unexpected changes of large volume in the statement can be traced to the operations of one or more large institutions, but in the present case the increase seems to have been distributed impartially among quite a number of prominent banks. | and old fours, registered, and fives 1/8. than normal, and the inference is that the | the closing bid prices: sudden rise reflects one or two belated special operations previously mentioned in this analysis. The loan total, now standing at $800,268,600, is the largest in the history of New York Clearing House, and surpasses by nearly six and one-half millions the previous high water mark, recorded July 8, last year. The loan item has expanded twelve and one-half millions since May 5, last. In 1899, the same period witnessed decline of $30,000,000, but beginning in June, there was a sudden jump in loans which placed the total in July, as stated, at the highest point then known. In the face the present conditions it does not seem possible that there can be a continuance of the factors which are responsible for the heavy changes noted above. At this time last year the surplus of the banks was nearly forty-three millions, and two years ago it was $52,000,000. In each year the culmination of excess cash came at the end of the spring months, and if this is to be repeated now, the present excess of $20,-000,000 will dwindle very rapidly. Still the banks are holding their own, for the surplus, in spite of the heavy demands made for increased reserved requirements, is actually rising. The approach of the crop season probably will witness a liquidation of the heavy volume of outstanding commitments, although that gold will come from Europe is as yet an undecided point. Bank circulation increased largely in May, was over four millions in excess of what is held at present." REVIEW OF WALL STREET.

and gold from the Klondike will be arriving panding, despite exports of gold, but the money of the country is in use by the banks. The present total of deposits, how-the maximum reported March 4, 1899. Even on that date the surplus cash in banks

There was manifest hesitation in the trend of prices of stocks Saturday and a doubt was disclosed whether the upward movement was not to prove abortive. American securities got practically no support in the London market, where duliness reigned in anticipation of the Whitsuntide holidays. The only stock in demand for London account was Baltimore & Ohio, which touched 83 in the New York market, an extreme advance of 2%, on rumors of an early dividend on the stock. Efforts were made to put up Southern Pacific on the expressed satisfaction of the president of the company with the prospects of the company. There were also one or two minor railroad stocks which moved upward. These sustaining influences, however, failed to hold the market, and the bulls sought to take profits, with resulting lesses in prices which reached to between one and two points in some stocks. The iron and steel industrials were conspicuous sufferers in the depressing predictions regarding the trade outlook, and the additional shutting down of mills by the Steel and Wire Company. Sugar hung below Friday night's level, and was comparatively dull. The bank statement proved Am. a Am. is disappointing in some items and mystify- American in others, and turned sentiment to- American wards reaction, the closing being heavy and unsettled on a declining scale. The gain in cash showed Friday's preliminary estimates much at fault. They calculated on a gain in cash by the banks of less than $2,000,000, indicating a falling off in the return flow of currency from the in-terior compared with last week of a million dollars. The bulls accepted this calculation an an encouraging factor Friday as indicating an increased use for money and greater trade activity. But the actual bank statement shows a gain in the reserves of $4.147,000, indicating the receipt from the interior of a million more dollars than last week. There have been no known operations during the week to account for a loan expansion, but the day's large bank clearings indicate a special transaction. The higher rates for money ruling in Berlin make it probable that further American capital is being placed at interest there. The additional reserve requirement resulting from the loan and deposit increase brought down the increase in surplus reserves to $1,310,950. There has been some slight stirring of speculative interest in the stock market during the week, and a show of strength, arousing in the minds of professional traders hopes that the market was on the eve of an inflow of capital into securities. Sundry causes have contributed to the modicum of strength in stocks during the week. The midweek holiday prompted to the covring of traders' contracts, and as traders have been quite generally on the bear side for some time past the covering movement had the effect of lifting prices. Evidently the shorts were rather nonplussed over the equanimity with which the stock market had accepted the large brokerage failure last week and the smaller one this week, and they thought it safer to cover. Or Thursday morning came the news that Johannesburg and the gold mines were in British hands again, and the report that Pretoria had yielded without a struggle. At the same time there was renewed speculative excitement in Sugar over the news of the arrangement for taking over certain of the independent refineries in the interest of the American Sugar Refining Company. The response of the world's stock markets, including London, to the news of the collapse of the Boer defense and the expectation of the near ending of the war in South Africa was very moderate. In the eye of the financial world the crucial point of the war was passed when the gold mines at Johannesburg were secured from the destruction which was feared at the hands of the Boers. With an early renewal thus assured of the supply of money metal from that source the war shrinks to small proportions as a factor in the world's economy. The slight response of the stock markets at this decisive stage in the war must mean that the event had been pretty fully discounted in prices, or there must be other causes in the background to exercise a repressive influence on the markets. The fact that mining stocks rule at near the high-record prices in London is indicative of a discounting of the South African war

FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS. The events centering in Peking, coupled with the strained relations between Russia and Japan over Korea, are suggestive of possibilities of a clash in the adjustment of rivalries of the powers in the far east. The fact that the Bank of England refrained from following the decline in the private rate and indicated a preference for additional repayment of loans by the mar ket shows the desire of the authorities of that institution to fortify its already strong position. What the contingency may be against which provision is thus made is not evident, in view of the current ease of money all over the world, but experience abundantly justifies the confidence that the Bank of England's governors have sources of information of coming events not vouchsafed to the ordinary financial community. Disappointment was palpable in the New York market, both on Thursday morning and on Friday morning, over the failure of foreign markets to respond more largely to the war news. The resulting reaction was overcome in both instances. The strength of the New York stock market must be explained by domestic causes. one of the most potent of which is the better tone in the markets for iron and its finished products. While the reactionary course of prices of iron products has not ceased, there is reported some increase of the hand-to-mouth buying with which needs have been supplied, owing to the bare conditions of consumers' yards. This is believed to presage a resumption of buying demand and confidence grows that Imports of specie for the week at the the consumptive requirements will prove sufficient to maintain prosperous conditions in this important trade. Reports are current of foreign contracts which will absorb considerable tonnage, and iron-mining shares in Berlin have been weak on reports of American offers of iron. These encouraging factors in the trade have had some effect on the shares of steel industrials, but the manner in which these stocks have been manipulated causes distrust of them. For this reason, probably, the sympathetic effect of the improved sentiment in the iron trade on the stock market at large has not been sufficiently estimated. Railroad earnings are well maintained above last year's high level, but the high prices of material make growing requirements for operating expenses which affect the balance for net earnings. High prices for iron and steel products and for coal make notable increase in expenses of operating railroads, and, in addition, the falling off in freight traffic makes competition keener and the probability that the decline in traffic is caused partly by high freight tariffs tempts to rate cutting. In the Southwest and West the good progress made by the winter wheat and other crops has given strength to stocks of railroads running through that region In the bond market there has been some improvement in demand and in prices, as a result of the accumulation of idle money and the apathetic demand for funds at the money markets. The volume offering of well-secured bonds is small and prices advanced easily with any considerable de-United States refunding registered twos, when issued, and the threes declined 1/4

Week of Disappointing Trade Owing to Unfavorable Weather Conditions.

In the week ended June 2 trade on the wholesale streets was not very satisfactory, four days of heavy rains cutting down business perceptibly in several lines. On Commission row, however, the volume of trade was not curtailed prices were the feature of the week. Only in sugars were any material advances made. Slight declines in poultry and eggs are shown, creasing receipts, oranges and lemons excepted, both of which were advanced during the week 50c a box. Old Irish potatoes are still in good request and are selling 5c a bushel higher than a week ago. The provision market ruled steady throughout the week, as did the flour market. Leather of some descriptions went off 1c. and the hide market, although active, in prices rules easy. Little is doing in the wool market, receipts being light and prices unchanged.

The local grain market was slow. The weather was not favorable to shipping grain. ### TRADE WAS VERY DULL

WHEAT LOWER ON GENERAL STAG-NATION AND NEEDED RAINS.

Corn Firm and a Shade Higher-Oats Lost on the Day-Provisions Closed with Mixed Changes.

CHICAGO, June 2. - Business on the Board of Trade was dull to-day. Wheat closed 4c lower, corn a shade higher, oats a shade depressed and provisions from 21/20 5c higher to 71/2010c depressed. There was no news of great importance.

The spark of life in the wheat market was very feeble. Speculators have a habit of doing very little on Saturday, and today, with Liverpool closed, they were still less inclined to bestir themselves. The market opened firm because it was reported at noon the Northwest needed more rain, but shortly afterward reacted on the general prediction of more rains; the general stagnation here and the relative weakness of Northwestern markets. July opened unchanged at 67c to 67%c, sold to 671/sc and then declined to 661/2c, closing heavy, 4c under yesterday, at 66%@66%c. Primary receipts were 539,000 bu, compared with 835,000 last year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 516 cars, against 503 last week and 642 a year ago. Local receipts were 59 cars, one of contract grade. Clearances at the seaboard were equal in wheat and flour to 423,000 bu. New York reported 28 loads taken for export. The market for corn was quiet, but firm. Country acceptances and receipts were both small, and the bull contingent lent some support. Crop prospects were still reported favorable, and the heaviness of

The trade in oats was unimportant. July sold between 214@21%c and 21%@214c, closing a shade under yesterday at 21%@21%c. Receipts here were 242 cars.

Provisions were firm as to meats and weak as to lard. The lard weakness was because of an increase in stocks, where a decrease had been expected. Trade was quiet. July pork sold between $11.121/2@11.15 and $11.10, closing unchanged at $11.15; July lard between $6.72½ and $6.62½, closing 7½@ 10c depressed, at $6.62½@6.65, and July ribs between $6.47½ and $6.42½, with the close 21/2@5c higher, at $6.45@6.471/2. Estimated receipts Monday: Wheat, 55 cars; corn, 500 cars; oats, 280 cars; hogs, 32,000 head. Leading futures ranged as follows:

"AN your business afford the time, or your health the worry, of giving the details of your estate the attention they really deserve? If you cannot do this without sacrifice to your business interests or plans of travel, how can you expect the busy commercial or professional man to act as executor or administrator of your estate, and care for its added responsibilities and details, along with their own pressing personal affairs? It is hardly fair to ask it. Such duties properly belong to the sphere of Trust Companies. We are in position to act as Executor, Administrator or Trustee, rendering such service more satisfactorily and economically than the individual. Consultation invited.

Hogs Fairly Active at Steady to Five Lower Prices - Sheep Quiet-Markets Elsewhere.

June 2.-Cattle-Receipts light; shipments none. The receipts of cattle were not improved compared with the average at this time in the week, and, as usual on Saturday, the market was quiet at quotably unchanged prices compared with yesterday. The receipts this week are fully 200 larger than last week and the same week a year ago, and the receipts for five months are a little over 900 smaller than the same period last year. From the beginning of the week there was a weaker tendency in the market, especially for all female cattle and heavy steers, and subsequent sales show a decline of 10@25c on the former and fully 15c on the latter compared with the clos of last week. Handy light butcher steers and best heifers did not show a great deal of change, but sales were hardly as satisfactory to salesmen.
